Former IRS Audit Supervisor Nellie Williams, "The IRS Insider" has a heart for the small business owner. For over 35 years Nellie has helped entrepreneurs, coaches and small business owners pay their lowest legal tax and sleep well every night. She has provided superior services to thousands of clients with tax return preparation, audit representation, estate planning and small business consulting. And she will do this as long as she is able - her clients won't let her retire.

BUT, as rewarding as her tax work is, she felt something was missing. Then she found Scientific Hand Analysis! It promised to help her discover her Life School, Life Purpose and Life Lessons. She loves this work. And that is what she wants to share with you! She is a frequent lecturer and key-note speaker, now sharing the secrets in your hands. Nellie's unique talents, education and dedication to exceed her client's expectations have led her to create her website: MapinYourHands.com (currently under construction) Her goal is to share all of her insider secrets on how to find your what your hands have in store for you and easily live the life you signed up for before you were born.
